

THE COMPANY PROFILE

Precise Global Certification Services Pvt Ltd.

MESSAGE FROM CEO

Hi, Welcome to Precise Global Certification Pvt. Ltd. Our entire business is QUALITY. We believe in the “Do as I do, not as I say” principle, following the same high standards to which we expect your company to adhere.

We are proud to serve diverse markets and business sectors with wide range of accredited certifications, and training solutions around the world. Our team of talented auditors and tutors are dedicated to adding true value to each of our clients.

We are a conformity assessment company having technical, operational, sales and business support expertise to help businesses and organizations manage efficiently their Quality, Health & Safety, Environmental and Social Responsibility issues. Our primary asset is our staff. As a result, our first goal is to attract and retain the best people. Our managers spend a large part of their time recruiting, selecting, training, coaching, and leading their teams.

I personally take special consideration and give high importance to each of the quotations, contracts, audit results, audit reports, project status and certification decisions. If you need my special attention on any subject related to our services please let me know, I am just an email away from all the support you need. Please write me at ceo@precisegcs.com.

I invite you to visit our website often to keep apprised of our progress.

REASONS TO GET CERTIFIED

A list of ten benefits to having your company go through the registration process for Management Standards is provided here. Once you have decided that ISO certification is right for your company, you will be ready to read up on how to get certified to ISO and start preparing your documentation.

INCREASED EFFICIENCY

Companies that go through the chosen Management Standards certification process have given a lot of thought to their processes and how to maximize quality and efficiency. Once certified for the relevant management standard, the processes are established and guidelines in place for anyone to follow easily, making training, transitions, and trouble- shooting easier.

INCREASED REVENUE

Studies have shown that certified companies experience increased productivity and improved financial performance, compared to uncertified companies.

EMPLOYEE MORALE

Defined roles and responsibilities, accountability of management, established training systems and a clear picture of how their roles affect quality and the overall success of the company, all contribute to more satisfied and motivated staff.

INTERNATIONAL RECOGNITION

The International Organization for Standardization (ISO) is recognized worldwide as the authority on quality management.

FACTUAL APPROACH TO DECISION MAKING

All management standards set out clear instructions for audits and process reviews that facilitate information gathering and decision making based on the data.

SUPPLIER RELATIONSHIPS

Mutually beneficial supplier relationships are one of the key attractions of registration. Following the processes for documentation and testing ensure quality raw materials go into your production system. The process also requires thorough evaluation of new suppliers before a change is made and/or consistency with respect to how and where orders are placed.

DOCUMENTATION

All management systems require documentation of all processes and any changes, errors and discrepancies. This ensures consistency throughout production and accountability of all staff. This also guarantees traceable records are available in case of non-compliant products or raw materials.

CONSISTENCY

One of the foundations of management systems; All processes from research and development, to production, to shipping, are defined, outlined and documented, minimizing room for error.

CUSTOMER SATISFACTION

Client confidence is gained because of the universal acceptance of registration. Customer satisfaction is improved because of the benefits of registration to company efficiency, consistency and dedication to customer service.

IMPROVED PROCESSES

All management systems outline audit processes, management review and improvement processes based on collected data. Improvements are carefully planned and implemented based on facts, using a system of documentation and analysis, to ensure the best decisions are made for your company.
